Security system from Falcon series

The Tarso remote controls from the Falcon 4-button range for tail lifts, are equipped with a safety system that requires the operator to use two hands to perform tilting movements.

How to use

1. Push the tilt button with your right hand.

2. Push the up or down button with your left hand at the same time.

Note: if you lift the up or down button, for your safety, the transmission will stop and the platform will stop tilting; if you lift the tilt button and keep pressing the up or down button, the platform will go up or down.

Disabling the security system

The user may disable the security system at his own responsibility and risk.

1. When the controller is off, press the START button and immediately press tilt down.

2. The remote's LEDs will begin to flash.

3. Keep the buttons pressed until the LEDs are steady, the security will be disabled and you can tilt with a single button.

5 sec

Note: to re-enable the security system you only have to repeat the previous steps.
